1. According to a Cuban [REDACTED], the active elements in Cuba in the current revolutionary activities are Eufemio Fernandez and Juan Bosch, leaders of the recent Dominican revolutionary attempt. Cuban Senator-elect and ex-Minister of Education Jose Manuel Aleman allegedly stated to [REDACTED] that he is completely separated from this current movement and will not take part in its organization. 25X1X
2. However, [REDACTED] asserts that there are two twin-motor airplanes purchased for the Dominican revolutionary attempt in 1947 still located in the United States. These planes, one of which allegedly is located near New Orleans, Louisiana, are loaded with arms and khaki uniforms. An unnamed individual who reportedly represents the interests of Manolo Castro and others who were active in the 1947 Dominican attempt, is said to have conferred with Aleman concerning the two airplanes. Aleman, however, would not discuss the airplanes and equipment insisting that he is not interested in any phase of the revolutionary activity.
